

Media, Information and Communication Technologies Sector Education and Training Authority (MICT SETA)

The MICT SETA invites all relevant stakeholders to participate in its sub-sectoral focus group discussions.

The Skills Development Act 1998 Section 10(1) (a) requires SETAs to conduct research and document industry occupational shortages and skills gaps through the Sector Skills Plan (SSP) and develop strategies to address the identified shortages and gaps. In an effort to update the previous year skills shortages and gaps, the SETA invites HR Practitioners, Technical Specialists/Experts, Researchers or anyone involved in the development of skills within respective workplaces, to sub-sectoral focus group sessions that will focus on:

- Key Skills Change Drivers (Factors affecting skills demand and supply, Policy frameworks affecting skills demand and supply)
- Occupational Shortages and Skills Gaps (Sectoral Occupational Demand, Extent and nature of Supply, Sectoral Priority Occupations).
- Skills Priority Actions
